Written By: John E. Reid and Associates

Preface

The Investigator's Notebook organizes our published Investigator Tips into several topical categories for ease of reference. There is some redundancy within the various Tips, but as a general rule each of the Tips will provide you with some insights into the various elements of conducting the investigation, the interview, and, when appropriate, the interrogation.

In a few instances, our procedures and/or policies have changed or have been modified since the original publication date of the specific Investigator Tip under consideration.
